Visual Representations of Austrian and European History during the Reign of Emperor Franz Joseph I, 1848 – 1916

Course Description

Franz Joseph I was born in 1830 and became Emperor of Austria in 1848 went on to reign for over half a century from 1848 to 1916. Like no other Habsburg ruler he epitomized the Austrian Empire and its dynastic power. Over the period of his long reign, Emperor Franz Joseph became the most prominent symbol of the unity and supranational-identity of the Austrian monarchy in an age of national conflicts and political paralysis.

In his capacity of symbolizing the empire, Franz Joseph was honored in numerous public celebrations such as the ones which took place in 1898 and 1908 (50th and 60th anniversary of the Emperor's accession), and he was immortalized in an extensive series of visual and written documents.

This course will concentrate on visual sources and media representations of the imperial cult of the Emperor and the state he symbolized. Students will get familiar with Austro-Hungarian self-perception and with foreign perceptions of the Austrian Empire and with milestones of History and Visual Representations of Leadership in 19th century Europe.

The course is directed at students interested in Visual History and Public History. We will read basic works by scholars who study visual resources and work closely with digital visual documents from the collections of the Austrian National Library and digital historical collections available online.

Students will get an Introduction into the Visual History of Europe in the 19th Century, get familiar with basic methodologies and theories of visual resources and learn how to “read” and interpret images and how images create imagineries of the past.

Graduate Credit

Graduate students who enroll in this class have to do additional research for their written paper and write at least a 8-10-page research paper! Additionally, they are expected to demonstrate a deeper understanding of theoretical and historiographical debates in class discussion, in analyzing images and movies in Class LAB-workshops and in their papers than undergraduates.

All Students are expected to email weekly a short paragraph summarizing the readings, and propose 1 or 2 aspect that interest you and that you'd want to address in seminar. Your grade will also reflect in-class participation.

Grading

1 Midterm	25 % (basic facts from lectures and readings)
1 Final	25 % (basic comprehension and analysis of major themes)
3 Papers	30 % (research, analysis, and basic writing skills)
Class participation	20 % (based on class participation)

Attendance Policy

Students have to attend ALL class lectures; unexcused absences will result in one grade drop per unexcused absence; a class can only be excused by contacting the instructor in advance (phone or e-mail)

Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is fundamental to the process of learning and evaluating academic performance. Academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, the following: cheating, plagiarism (including copying work from the Internet!), tampering with academic records and examinations, falsifying identity, and being accessory to acts of academic dishonesty. Refer to the UNO Judicial Code for further information. The Code is available online at http://www.uno.edu/~stlf/policy%20Manual/judicial_code_pts.htm.

Students with Disabilities

Students who qualify for services will receive the academic modifications for which they are legally entitled. It is the responsibility of the student to register with the Office of Disability Services (UC 260) each semester and follow their procedures for obtaining assistance.
